

*Sit down before fact as a little child,
Be prepared to give up every conceived notion,
Follow humbly wherever and whatever abysses nature leads,
Or you will learn nothing.*

— THOMAS HUXLEY

What Happens Next?

“Wow?” Zeus mimicked. “You’re given the key to the door out of the illusion and all you can say is ‘wow’? At least make it a coda of note. How about bow-wow? Or even better, bowser-wowser?”

“Huh?”

“You’re doing just fine, Larry,” the Voice offered. “We are certain that once you have absorbed the full implications of this material, you will find precisely the right words to express yourself. When you completely perceive that all other selves are you, you will have mastered the illusion’s prime lesson. From this elevated point from which to view, you can appreciate in a new way the pain and sorrow inherent in the polarized experiences characterizing the third density. With this realization comes overwhelming Compassion manifested as an intense desire to serve your fellow beings.

“Then you are ready to move on, to enter a new level of reality where the conflicts of duality fall away. The next density, the fourth, which all humanity is now invited to enter, is based on a completely different geometric principle than the third. Negative and positive, the pairs of opposites, begin to fall away. That is why it is called the density of compassionate Love. It is the first of the higher densities, purposefully hidden until now so your experience of polarity could remain intact.

“As we indicated earlier, every density has its own particular geometry. As one advances, the mathematics become progressively subtle—increasingly refined analogs of the distortive filters contained within your chakras. For there must be some level of distortion, or there would be no experience and we would not advance.”

“That makes sense,” Larry responded. “I have one question: Do we keep our bodies when we get to the next density?”

“No, not in their present form,” the Voice replied. “Although the shape is similar, the chemical elements are not the same. The fourth-density body is appreciably denser in Consciousness, substantially lighter in physical composition, and considerably richer in life force. If it ever falls ill, it is easily healed.”

“Does it need to eat?”

“Yes, but fourth-density beings are not attached to the complexities of food preparation you seem to enjoy here. I’m afraid cookbook publishers would find no market in the next density. The selection and preparation of foodstuffs is extremely simple by your standards, due to the increased level of communication between each being and its food. Meals are unimportant except as a means for learning patience.”

“What a strange thing to say,” Larry said. “What’s the connection between eating and patience?”

“Ah, each density’s unique geometry figures in all aspects of an entity’s experience there. Consider what decision opened the gateway between the third density to the fourth.”

“You mean the desire to serve others?” Larry asked.

“Quite so,” the Voice replied. “In the fourth density that desire is so overwhelming that time taken for meals is viewed as a hindrance—and therefore an opportunity to refine the gift of patience.

“However, the fourth density involves more than serving, patience, and food. The overriding objective is to strive toward Wisdom. The fourth density reels under the weight of Compassion. Even though Compassion is the ultimate lesson in the third density, when practiced and refined as the prime focus of the fourth density it invariably becomes imbalanced, often leading to well-meant acts of folly.”

“I thought pure compassion was a good thing,” Larry interjected.

“‘Good’ and ‘bad’ have little relevance outside of your illusion. There is only balance and imbalance. Consider a seesaw with ten tons of compassion on one side. What would bring it into balance?”

“I don’t know,” Larry responded, “an equal amount of enmity?”

“Dummkopf!” The word clearly came from Zeus’s direction.

“Stop thinking in terms of black and white,” the Voice continued, ignoring the critique from Zeus. “As we said, opposites cease to carry the same weight in the higher realms.”

“Does Wisdom balance Compassion?” Larry asked, realizing that given the subject’s importance, this probably wasn’t the best time to wisecrack.

“Indeed,” the Voice said. “They form two sides of the Great Cosmic Triangle, the third being Power. The fourth through sixth densities deal with mastering Love—of which Compassion is an aspect—then Wisdom, and finally Power.

“Have any beings ever come back to our planet from the fourth density?”

“Yes, Larry. There is a sprinkling of fourth-density beings on the planet at this time. But more of the Wanderers who are here to serve during the transition are from the fifth density, and the majority, as we commented earlier, are from the sixth.”

“Would I know of any of them?”

“Yes, I’m sure you would. While some work powerfully behind the scenes in anonymity, others are prominent teachers who attract large followings. It is not for me to reveal their names, as that would compromise your Free Will, tempting you to surrender your own power to belief. However, as the Akasha is open to you, you can browse the files whenever you wish. We ask only that you respect the Free Will of others at all times, just as we honor yours.”

“You have my word,” Larry said. “Can you at least tell me the names of fourth-density beings who were here in the past?”

“You don’t need us for that,” the Voice responded. “Look into your own histories to find those who came with messages of love and compassion.”

“Jesus? Buddha?”

“Ah, it appears you already know the answers, so we shall turn over some new ground.

“As we were saying,” the Voice continued, “unlike in your present experience on Earth, polarity is no longer the major catalyst for experience in the fourth density. The dimension’s geometry does not sustain disharmony of any kind, neither within oneself or in relations with others. Individual differences abound and are valued, but they are automatically harmonized by group consensus.”

“How does that happen?” Larry asked.

“On your side of the Veil, the distortive lenses and filters designed to create experience are lodged in the lower three chakras. In the fourth, fifth, and sixth densities, however, the energetic matrix that directs experience is focused on refinement of the higher energy centers. Duality is no longer required as an agent for growth. What were judged as negative and positive paths in the third density become, in the fourth, simply paths of service to self and service to others. Travelers on one path are not subjected to the energetic interference of the other path as part of their immediate fourth-density experience. This allows for unobstructed communication among all participants in a fourth-density community. Selves are not kept hidden from other selves. All imbalances are immediately apparent, and any illness is easily healed once the mechanism of any destructive or counterproductive influence is grasped.

“As the individuals’ Awareness evolves, the group grows increasingly harmonious, gradually coalescing under a common purpose of service. The group memory—akin to the Akashic record—becomes known to the entire collective, creating a social memory complex. Then all the experiences of any member are instantly available to the whole group. Words are no longer necessary, as all is known to all.”

“Something like a mini All That Is?” Larry asked.

“Yes, something like that,” the Voice replied. “The fourth density is a baby step toward merging back into the Oneness. Each entity retains its individuality even while it is consciously connected to an integration of active viewpoints, which could include billions of other selves. The complexity of this union, as one moves higher along the continuum of the I’s, increases exponentially and confounds our ability to explain it in terms readily comprehensible to you.”

“I can’t imagine many people on this planet being comfortable with the idea of others knowing their secret thoughts,” Larry mused.

“For anyone experiencing a polarized density, granting another entity free access would be most unusual,” the Voice said. “Even in the fourth density, this is a gradual process sustained over millions of years.”

“Over what?” Larry exclaimed.

“It is difficult to translate time from one density to the next. For example, we have resided in these rocks for some eighty-five million years, arcing our Awareness between the first and sixth densities. To us, the passage of time is hardly noticeable. By contrast, your entire third-density experience is programmed to last for only three grand cycles—approximately seventy-five thousand years—probably a very long period to you. To paraphrase one of the finer minds who lived on your side of the Veil: time is relative; it passes more slowly for a man when he is sitting on a park bench waiting for his lover than when locked in her embrace.

“The fourth density lies somewhere in between. The lessons to be learned there are absorbed over approximately thirty million years. However, the typical fourth-density incarnation lasts some ninety thousand years—which doesn’t seem long to the participants, as the experience is even more captivating than being lost in the love of merely one other self.”

“How does one finally graduate from the fourth density?” Larry asked.

“It depends on the ability of the entire social memory complex to welcome a sufficiently high quotient of Light/Love energy. This is achieved as the collective attains greater levels of loving Compassion for the sorrows of their brothers and sisters still experiencing third-density reality.

“As you might expect,” the Voice said, “the next area of exploration on our grand cosmic journey is the fifth density. Here the overwhelming, unbridled Compassion of the fourth density is countervailed by Wisdom.

“Keep in mind that the objective of each density is to move the self further along its infinite continuum of I’s. In the second density, an individual breaks from the herd and recognizes its individuality. In the third, it overcomes its obsession with personal survival. In the fourth, the entity merges once again in the group mind while retaining an evolved individual identity; from this elevated perspective, it easily grasps the nature of immortality.

“In the fifth density, individuals can choose how they wish to gain heightened Awareness—as part of a social memory complex or as a singular entity. Both are catalysts for increasing one’s quotient of Wisdom. One realizes that one contributes to the planetary Consciousness more through one’s quality of being than one’s ability to manipulate outcomes on the physical plane. As balance between Compassion and Wisdom is achieved, the individual is able to welcome a significantly greater quotient of Light/Love energy.”

“And this, I gather, opens the gateway to the sixth density?” Larry asked.

“Precisely so,” the Voice responded. “The sixth density has its own gift: unity. It is here that those who have chosen the negative path of service, once they fully know the Law of One, join their positive counterparts in service to all.

“As you correctly said earlier, this law states that infinity is equal to One. All Creation is One. Everything is an aspect of the One. There is only One. As a concept, this law is not far removed from what you have been experiencing the past few days. However, when perceived from the higher I’s of your I-continuum, it ceases to be a mere concept. Perhaps the best explanation, given the limitations of words, is to ask that you imagine the equivalent of a tuning fork attuned to the cosmos embedded in each entity’s core. When the Law of One is fully realized, the subtle vibration of Oneness—often expressed as the sound symbol Om—moves through the entity’s energy fields. It actuates the tuning fork within, which then emits a sympathetic vibration that amplifies that entity’s Love/Light quotient.

“Completion of the realization that All is One allows the sixth-density being to refine the balance achieved between Compassion and Wisdom. It is then able to use focused thought to access the Infinite Intelligence present in each particle of Light. At this level of Awareness, an entity is fully capable of manipulating energy to create whatever form it wishes to project into physical realms. Thus this density completes the Great Cosmic Triangle of Love, Wisdom, and Power.

“It is virtually impossible for us to capture the nature of the sixth density in words, as it involves a geometry beyond what your mind can grasp. But there is an exercise that can give you a preview of what the sixth density has to offer. Does this interest you?”

“You’ve got to be kidding,” Larry responded. “That’s like asking a five-year-old if he’d like to steer his dad’s car!”

“Very well then, all you need do is ask. The exercise we are about to reveal provides you with a window into infinity, and insight into the process through which intention and attention are focused through the Cosmic Triangle to bring about manifestation.

“Using the breathing techniques you have been taught, enter into deep meditation. Imagine yourself becoming formless, just pure Awareness seeking points from which to view.”

Larry began focusing on his breath, allowing his mind to drift into the Void, awaiting the arrival of anchor points from which he could re-form thought.

“Visualize a vast triangle, each side a portal with its own viewpoint. These are the portals of Love, Wisdom, and Power.” Even as the Voice spoke, Larry found himself in the presence of a vast geometric form growing out of nothingness.

“First, move your Consciousness to the portal of Love. Allow yourself to merge with the portal so completely that you are consumed by endless waves of Compassion and unconditional Love. Remain deep in its embrace until your sense of personal identity has dissolved completely and you are unconditional Love.”

Larry experienced endless waves of joy and peace until, much as the incessant lapping of the sea ultimately claims even the most durable granite, his entire being surrendered to the primal force of Creation.

“Next, move your Consciousness to the portal of Wisdom. Here too, allow yourself to merge with the portal so completely that you are consumed by the depth and pervasiveness of absolute Wisdom. Remain deep within the quintessence of Wisdom until your sense of personal identity has dissolved completely and you are absolute Wisdom.”

This portion of the exercise absolutely stunned Larry. Nothing in his deepest imagination could have prepared him for the enormity of merging into the utter refinement of Wisdom. It embraced the pure distillate of infinite knowledge, the place where understanding and purpose are birthed.

“Once this Awareness is complete, move your Consciousness to the portal of Power. Allow yourself to merge with this portal so completely that you are consumed by the absolute certainty and causal presence of consummate Power. Remain deep within the embodiment of power until your sense of personal identity has dissolved completely and you are that which commands the potential to manifest all Creation.”

The unbridled magnitude of the power Larry felt left no doubt about the origin of Creation. As he allowed himself to be carried by the boundless exhilaration of omnipotence, he felt his being expand beyond the realms of comprehension to merge with the essence of infinity itself.

“We can see that you have already realized that each portal, though an extraordinary doorway into the infinite, is somehow incomplete—like an object beam without a reference beam with which to create interference patterns. In the stillness of the Void, you will begin to become Aware of Creation’s gravitational pull, seeking to complete itself.

“So return to the portal of Love, and once more become consumed by the energetic fires of unconditional, compassionate Love. Once this has been achieved, begin to focus your attention on Wisdom. Appreciate as fully as possible the gifts of Wisdom when viewed through the portal of Love. Note how the energy of Wisdom takes on a different signature when seen from here. Observe the flow of energy between these two portals.

“Now, leave Wisdom and return to the original feeling of being immersed in the vibration of Love. From here, focus your attention on Power. Observe how the raw, unbridled potential of Power is tempered by Love, how its energetic signature shifts when it is viewed through this portal.

“Continue this exercise, viewing Love and then Power from the portal of Wisdom. Once you have gleaned the knowledge you seek there, move on to the portal of Power. From there, view first Love, then Wisdom.”

The Voice allowed Larry all the time he needed to fully integrate each aspect of the exercise, bending the third-density laws of space and time for this purpose such that the experience of eons was distilled into a few minutes of objective, local time. As the exercised progressed, the Great Cosmic Triangle began to spin with such rapidity that it morphed into a circle that expanded to engulf the entire universe, impelled by an irresistible centrifugal force. Larry now knew what the Voice meant when it said that the gift of the sixth density was unity.

The Voice and Zeus waited silently for Larry’s return.

When at last he emerged, Zeus quipped, “Boy, you sure take some neat trips. When you get a free moment, would you mind e-mailing me your travel agent's phone number?"

"Whoa," Larry exclaimed, "what a ride! If that's the sixth density, book me a ticket."

"We appreciate your enthusiasm," the Voice responded, "yet you've only been permitted a brief peek at the menu, as Zeus might say. If you wish to actually sit at the table, you first have to master the lessons of the preceding densities. Creation is far too delightful a process to waste. Do not lose the magic at hand while reaching for the illusion of the future."

"You are familiar with the interference patterns of two beams of cohesive light creating the illusion of a three-dimensional hologram floating in space, we presume?"

"Yes," Larry replied.

"When the three cohesive energetic beams of Love, Wisdom, and Power intersect, they create untold multidimensional, holographic interference patterns that comprise the matrix through which all experience takes place. The fullness of what transpires at this level evades the confines of any alphabet."

"These exercises will reveal more to you about the nature of Creation than all the stories words can weave. We suggest that if you choose to do them at all, proceed with great care. Do not rush through them. Allow each step to unfold at its own pace, resisting the ego's urge to predetermine what you might discover. You would be well advised to divide them into four separate meditations spaced at least two or three days apart. Pulling at the petals of the rosebud prematurely will ultimately rob you of delighting in its fragrance and the perfection of its mature form. And, might we add, first cleanse and bless the sacred space where you will do this work, then ask your Higher Self for guidance and protection."

Larry's lack of response spoke volumes.